A. Hall. In the form of a diary, with biographies and statistical tables appended.

Describes the expedition to Springfield, including an account of the charge against Springfield and the return to St. Louis. Contains an account of the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox Court House, and the subsequent Union occupation of Virginia, as well as information on the Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia. Includes accounts of the Yazoo Expedition, December 1862 to January 1863. The diary ranges from November 15th to 23rd. The additional section of the pamphlet is a description of the Union and Confederate ships, in theory, were both restricted to a twenty-four-hour stay. In reality, the English were partial to the blockade of the Southern ports.

Rufus Dawes (1838-1899) was just 22 years old when the war broke out. He rose from captain of a company of Wisconsin lumberjacks to become a major general in the Union army. He describes his imprisonment, the trials of life in a prison camp, and the grief and distress over the war. Pages 118-132 contain poems by and autographs of other prisoners. Page 131 also contains a list of names of the people in the regiment with whom he corresponded.

In the diary, Ellis documents his daily observations and experiences as a prisoner of war. During his imprisonment, he read a great deal, and his entries exhibit an extensive knowledge of history and an appreciation of poetry. He provides a detailed account of the war effort in the South, including information on the Union and Confederate armies, their movements, and the battles they fought. He also describes the conditions of life in the prison camp and the experiences of the prisoners. The diary is a valuable source of information for historians and researchers interested in the Civil War.
William D. Alexander (b. 1841), of Mecklenburg County, N.C., was a Confederate hospital steward who served with the 37th North Carolina Infantry and kept this diary during the war. He volunteered in Nov. 1861 and was sent as a hospital orderly to the 7th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, where he was captured by the Confederates in July 1862 at the Battle of Perryville. He was sent to the prison in New Orleans Parish, Louisiana, and mustered in the 8th Illinois Volunteer Infantry on Dec. 24, 1863. He was promoted to the rank of Sergeant on Nov. 15, 1864. Alexander was wounded near Rome Cross Roads, Ga., on May 16, 1864, and was captured by the Confederates. He was released from a Confederate prison in Alabama on Dec. 8, 1864, and was mustered out on May 15, 1865.

In this small, leather-bound diary during the Civil War, he makes note of all that he sees while passing through the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi. Once in New Orleans Parish, he and his fellow prisoners from the 7th Ohio were transported by train to New Orleans Parish Prison in Louisiana. He describes the prison at Richmond, where he was held in Atkinson's Tobacco Factory, a makeshift prison, and describes prison life there. After a few weeks, he was transferred to a prison in Richmond, where he was held until his release.

Alonzo C. Ide diary, 1864 (transcript)

Alonzo C. Ide was a Union soldier who served in the 2nd New York Volunteer Infantry. He kept a diary during his service, which was transcribed and published in 2011. Ide was born in 1841 in New Hampshire and joined the army in 1861 as a private. He was mustered out in 1865 and returned to his family in New Hampshire. Ide's diary provides a detailed narrative of events, with comments and reflections, including discussion of the Battle of Manassas (Bull Run), 21 July 1861.

The main topic of the diary is the occupation of Gallatin and the surrounding region by Union forces under General Charles H.建档 in 1864. The diary also covers events related to the occupation of the region by Confederate forces, including the Battle of Forrest's Landing in September 1864. Ide mentions various events and activities, including the Battle of Cedar Mountain on August 19, 1862. He also describes the occupation of the town of Gallatin, including the burning of several buildings.

Andrew J. P. Giddings was a Union soldier who served in the 1st Missouri Volunteer Infantry. He kept a diary during his service, which was transcribed and published in 2011. Giddings was born in 1840 in the state of New York and joined the army in 1861 as a private. He was mustered out in 1865 and returned to his family in New York. Giddings's diary provides a detailed narrative of events, with comments and reflections, including discussion of the Battle of Manassas (Bull Run), 21 July 1861.

The main topic of the diary is the occupation of Gallatin and the surrounding region by Union forces under General Charles H.建档 in 1864. The diary also covers events related to the occupation of the region by Confederate forces, including the Battle of Forrest's Landing in September 1864. Giddings mentions various events and activities, including the Battle of Cedar Mountain on August 19, 1862. He also describes the occupation of the town of Gallatin, including the burning of several buildings.
Civil War Diaries

of Richard G. Woodson, of Pike County, Missouri, colonel of the 3rd Missouri State Militia (New). The papers concern his way, presumably, to Iowa.

Many killed. The remainder of the diary describes his time in hospital, both Confederate and Union, his eventual release on parole, and his return to the front. Coburn refers to "the hard battle between Yorktown and Richmond" (Battle of Williamsburg) and describes the days of "universal mourning at Yorktown.

Peninsula Campaign, which lasted into July 1862. Coburn refers to "the hard battle between Yorktown and Richmond" (Battle of Williamsburg) and describes the days of "universal mourning at Yorktown.

1865 is gone. My God! What memories crowd it! It has passed over me like an ugly dream."

Samuel Hoey Walkup was a colonel of the 48th North Carolina Infantry Regiment, Confederate States of America. The collection consists of several types of materials--transcripts of letters, articles, poems, and obituaries written by Duggan from his battle experiences and his interactions with other soldiers.

Walter R. Collins Diary Pocket Diary 1863

The collection consists of Civil War and postwar correspondence of General D. H. Hill with high Confederate military and civil officers, and contains a large number of letters discussing family affairs.

Cyrus F. Jenkins Civil War diary, 1861-1862. The Cyrus F. Jenkins Civil War Diary, 1861-1862, held at the Troup County Historical Society, is a collection of letters and articles written by Jenkins from his battle experiences and his interactions with other soldiers.

Diary kept by Charles Whipple Hadley (1844-1936), of Anamosa, Iowa. At age 17, Hadley left Anamosa to enlist in the Union army during the Civil War.

A Diary - The Eighty-third Ohio Volunteer Infantry in the War, 1862-1865.

C.W. Gerard

Several battles, including perhaps most significantly the Battle of Peeble's Farm. The diary entries cease with December 31, 1864.

James McCulloch diary, 1862 August - 1863 April. The collection consists of a Civil War diary written by James McCulloch. The original is in the possession of the McCulloch family.

Horace Barlow was born on May 30, 1842. Barlow graduated from the University of Michigan and was a member of the Sigma Phi Society. On August 18th, 1862, Barlow enlisted in Company C of the 12th Michigan Infantry Regiment. The collection consists of a Civil War diary written by Barlow from August 1862 to July 1863.

Time Period Covered: August 18, 1862 - July 10, 1863

A private in Company I, 8th Indiana Infantry, Elliott writes in his diary from August 16, 1862 to May 17, 1863. He records his activities in camp, the company's travels, and the skirmishes and battles in which he fought in Missouri, Louisiana, and Mississippi.

Nelson Stauffer enlisted in Co. A, 63rd Regiment, Illinois Infantry during the US Civil War. He kept a diary from 1862-1865. In it, he writes about his experiences in camp, his health and feelings in the army. He also comments on fighting and scavenging. Several different moments are of remarkable interest:

- The group's march to Vicksburg
- The capture of New Orleans
- The Battle of Shiloh

Holliday includes information on his participation in action in and around the New River Valley, including the battles of Cloyd's Mountain and Tullahoma.

Holliday's diaries, the first covering 1 May through 8 August 1864 and the second covering 1 September 1864 through 4 July 1865, were written during his service with the 11th Indiana Infantry Regiment. These diaries contain valuable information on the day-to-day life of a soldier.

John Morrison

Four years in the Stonewall brigade: containing the daily experiences of four year's service in the ranks from a diary kept at the time; with some letters from Robert Lewis Dabney (1820-1890), Virginia theologian and Confederate chaplain. There are also notes by Charles Calhoun, Robert Hall Chilton, Robert Lewis Dabney, Jubal A. Early, William A. Graham, Wade Hampton III, Stonewall Jackson, Joseph Johnston.

Maybury alludes to frequent skirmishes and battles with the Confederates. In the fall, Maybury's entries revert to a simpler style and begin to focus on daily life in camp. The next several months, Maybury alludes to frequent skirmishes and battles with the Confederates. In the fall, Maybury's entries revert to a simpler style and begin to focus on daily life in camp.

Indiana. His 1865 diary describes the overcrowding of military camps, learning of the South's surrender, mourning the loss of many comrades, and the eventual return home.

Confederate Army who started his military career in 1861 and served in the Monroe (County) Guards of the 27th Virginia Regiment. He then enlisted in Company H of the 11th Indiana Regiment under the alias Lewis H. Kimball. Harvey H. Boyd was a former member of the Confederate soldiers at this stage in the war. Jenkins was killed at Spotsylvania, Virginia, on May 12, 1864...
After Marcus mustered into service in September of 1864, his descriptions shift to daily camp life and more in-depth war news that news, and local community and church events. A notable entry on August 6th gives insight to his political sentiments: The Copper Heads a soldier, Warner also chronicles his previous civilian life and the Union army recruitment process. Writing as a civilian, his Annapolis, Md. the journey southward, and 2 May 1864 arrival at Andersonville Prison. Brief entries tell of many hundreds of prisoners coming into the The diary of M.M. Cottingim between April and October of 1862. In addition to short entries about his regiment's movements and the Atlanta Campaign. James Aker diary, 1864. This collection consists of a diary that covers Civil War events like marching through Tennessee and the effects of exposure and starvation on the men at Mine Creek, Kansas. Bennett then received orders to inspect military forts in Kansas and the defenses along the stage line to Georgia. The diary contains descriptions of the battles leading to the siege of Vicksburg.

Lyman Gibson Bennett, a soldier in the 36th Illinois Infantry, recorded this diary from August 19, 1861 through December 20, 1861. The diary describes the voyage from New York to Halifax, Nova Scotia and the return voyage on the brigantine the Standard of Windsor, Nova Scotia. The diary also contains various lists of goods and prices, some dated June-September 1863. Jacob Cohn enlisted as a private in Company A, 54th Pennsylvania Infantry, 10 September 1861. He was mustered out on 20 May 1862. His diary contains descriptions of incidents along the march, skirmishing with Native Americans, and the effects of exposure and starvation on the men. He wrote that the bread was 'an unpalatable kind of flour and it did not last long in the field.' Bennett's diary also includes descriptions of battles, including the Battle of Rich Mountain and Cheat Mountain, West Virginia, and the Battle of White House Landing and Petersburg, Virginia. He was taken prisoner at Antietam and was returned to the family in 1925. After Shiloh, Co. E, became Co. A, 23rd Tenn. Inf. Regt., CSA. Parkes' diary includes descriptions of hospitals at various prison camps. Included are descriptions of the trip from Johnson's Island to Point Lookout; of Bingham's work in Baltimore, then later at Harpers Ferry. The diary begins on the day the regiment was mustered into service and primarily describes his activities from the mustering of the regiment to just before its march to Corinth, Mississippi. He includes his account of the Battle of Olustee and his description of the Atlanta Campaign. Also included is documentation of daily skirmishes and cannonades, as well as military movement records. Charles Darwin Elliot's portion of the diary begins with his entries in March 1864; his wife continued the diary until September 1864. Charles Darwin Elliot's portion of the diary contains descriptions of Civil War events, including battles at Rich Mountain and Cheat Mountain, West Virginia, and White House Landing and Petersburg, Virginia. The diary also includes documentation of daily skirmishes and cannonades, as well as military movement records. George L. Bright was a soldier in the 38th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He wrote about his experiences in the Civil War while serving in the Union Army. He participated in the battles of Shiloh, Lookout Mountain, and Atlanta. Tuttle wrote brief descriptions of incidents along the march, skirmishing with Native Americans, and the effects of exposure and starvation on the men. In his diary, Charles H. Peterson kept an account of his daily life. Isaac N. Williamson was a bugler in Company E of the 18th Pennsylvania Cavalry. He was mustered on September 17, 1862; wounded at Antietam on September 17, 1862. He was discharged on December 26, 1862. James S. Davy Civil War Diary, 1865 contains descriptions of Civil War events, including battles at Rich Mountain and Cheat Mountain, West Virginia, and White House Landing and Petersburg, Virginia. The diary also includes documentation of daily skirmishes and cannonades, as well as military movement records. The diary was part of the Company E, 38th Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers, attached to the 3rd brigade, 2nd division, 19th Army Corps (Department of the Gulf, and Army of the Shenandoah, Middle Military Division). The diary was part of the Company E, 38th Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers, attached to the 3rd brigade, 2nd division, 19th Army Corps (Department of the Gulf, and Army of the Shenandoah, Middle Military Division).
The diary's entries span the first half of 1863 through 1864 and touch on such matters as camp life, the U. S. Army's advance down the Constitutionalist, Georgia Messenger, and The Southern Ladies Book, among others. In 1847 he moved to Atlanta and by 1852 Danville, Virginia. Following several prison transfers, Burnell eventually arrived home in May of 1865.

The diary of Private Henry L. Burnell, Co. "I," 8th Maine Volunteer Infantry, 1859 - 1865. Burnell served in the Union Army from September
June 2, 1865, describe Kimmel mustering out of service and returning home to Chariton County, Missouri. He mentions nearby the envelopes, including Union icons and likenesses of McClellan, George Washington, and the Sons of Erin. Among the contents are States at Elmire on August August 31, 1866. Charles wrote letters home frequently to his parents, relatives, and friends describing in 1638. Charles' ancestors Deacon Samuel Gates II and Samuel Gates both served in the Revolutionary War. From September 161 to

Charles Sigwalt Diary vol. 2 (January 1, 1863 - January 21, 1864)

William Legg Henderson journal #11, November 26, 1865 - January 9, 1866

William Legg Henderson journal #09, July 1 - September 16, 1865

William Legg Henderson journal #06, November 8, 1864-May 14, 1865

William Legg Henderson journal #04, January 1 - July 20 1864

Henry A. Potter Diary, 1863

Henry H. Chaffee

Cornelius Hanleiter Diaries Vol. 5 (transcriptions)

Cornelius Hanleiter Diaries Vol. 4 (transcriptions)

Henry Beck Civil War diaries, 1864-1865 (transcriptions)

Henry C. Dickinson

Henry Brockway served as a soldier during the Civil War in Company K, 34th Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers.

A, 103rd Regiment. He mustered into active service with his unit on October 2, 1862, in Peoria, Illinois. Over the course of the war, the
–

Charles Craver Pocket diary. 1861, Dec. 21 -- 1862, Dec. 23

Henry Hamilton Bennett Diary vol. 1

Elias Perry

5th Iowa Cavalry.

Charles Davis, of Liberty, Union County, Indiana, enlisted in Company I, 15th Regiment, Indiana Volunteers on May 14, 1861. He was Seven months in Rebeldom: Notes from the diary of a Bull Run prisoner at Richmond by Corporal William H. Merrill, CoIor Guard, Co. E.,

Contemporary maps, drawings, and other materials from the Civil War era. The site contains a large collection of Civil War diaries and

Miles Beaty letters, 1863

Welcome to the Civil War era. Experience the past through diaries, letters, and primary sources. Explore the experiences of common soldiers,

Common soldier
Civil War Diaries

Dora Richards Miller

A woman's wartime journal; an account of the passage over a Georgia plantation of Sherman's army on the march to the sea, as recorded...

Diary of a Refugee, edited by Frances Fearn, is the diary of Fearn's mother, a white southern slave holding woman, recounting...

'Civil War diary of Albert Cross, 1862.'

The diary begins in December 30, 1861 and ends with July 13, 1862 with an entry for every day. Gorham details visits to her sisters'

The powerful personalities vying for influence in Abraham Lincoln's duties, such as guarding the transports first frost October 22 and snowstorms; teaching school at the Stone School House beginning December 3 and the ensuing spelling

Wise-Clark family papers, May-July 1865

Writings of Elisha R. Reed, Company H, 2nd Wisconsin Infantry Regiment, consisting of a journal, July 1861-May 1862, written while

Robert M. Lusher diary, 1863. Lusher's 1863 diary includes daily activities in performance of duties as clerk of the Confederate States

Davis. On July 24, 1865 he mustered out and returned home where he continued farming. In September, 1865 he traveled to in Memphis, Tennessee on March 6. He describes several events such as the celebration over the capture of Richmond and General

Confederate States District Court and chief tax collector for Louisiana during the Civil War.

Robert M. Lusher diary, 1863

1865. Pages 76-80 consist of recollected anecdotes. Whipple took part in the Siege of Vicksburg and in the battles of Port Gibson, to witnessing the execution of a rebel spy. These are a diary and papers, 1862-1865, of Henry Ellison Skaggs, pertaining to his service in the 1st Missouri Cavalry in Missouri and Arkansas during the Civil War. Included are a diary, two letters from Little Rock, Arkansas, in Richmond. He was captured at Chancellorsville May 3rd and paroled May 13.

James B. Weaver

(commencing September 6, 1863) covers action off the coast of South Carolina and his arrival in Florida for duty at St. Augustine.

and continues with sporadic entries through July 29, 1864. In the first volume, Linsley writes extensively about his experiences in cards, and other ephemera.

23rd Massachusetts Regiment. The entries include information on General Ambrose E. Burnside's invasion of eastern North Carolina,
Civil War Diaries

Herbert E. Valentine

Henry S. Eggleston, Letters.

The diary contains records of sketches Mosler made for Harper's Weekly, a narrative of his activities during 1862, financial notes, hope for parole, with usual concerns re food rations and condition of prisoners; also comments on prisoners of war from Andersonville, Ga.

Entries discuss food, medical care, African-American soldiers, and his departure from South Carolina following a prisoner exchange.

Hartwell Percy Spain was a volunteer Confederate soldier in the Darlington Guards on duty around Charleston, S.C. The collection is from depression and a constant yearning for family and friends. On May 23, 1864 he learns of the imprisonment of his brother Richard.

On June 11, 1864 with Harry still imprisoned. Among Harry's entries is a description of his escape with four other officers in May 1864 as Transcription of a diary that Harry White kept while he was being held in three Confederate prisons--Libby in Virginia, Salisbury in camps in Virginia, leaving supplies, and aiding the sick and wounded.

Harriet H. A. Eaton Diaries, 1862-1864, constitute a detailed record of Eaton's observations and feelings as a U.S. Army nurse visiting months of 1862 and were written on one of the Sanitary Commissions transport ships, traveling mostly in and around the Chesapeake include Major G.W. Holt, Lieutenant Colonel Carter, Major Coleman, Captain J.H. Jones, and others.

dead with prisoner exchanges, deserters, and conditions at the camp, including the procurement of supplies. The officers addressed colleague, Colonel Edward Dillon, written from Camp Dick Garnett in the District of South West Mississippi and East Louisiana. Letters

H.M. Cheavens

He notes their rank, age, regiment, company, injury, and battle where the injury was sustained. Each soldiers' health and treatment

Camp and prison journal describing the author's experiences in camps, on the march, and in prisons in the North. Prisons and

Willoughby Babcock

Gilman A. Hoyt

Vance and wife Lizzie Luckett Vance, the original owners of the volume. They left the diary behind when they fled New Orleans in 1862,

George M. Shearer diary, 1865

During the Civil War, he joined the Confederate Army as a private in the 60th Alabama Infantry. On December 12, 1863, he was wounded

George D. Wise

George C. Burmeister diary, 1864

journalism. He was the London Daily telegraph correspondent during the American Civil War and was a contributor to Dickens'

George Anderson Mercer diary Volume 3, 3 March 1862-14 September 1863, original

George Anderson Mercer diary Transcription Volume 2, 15 June 1860-17 December 1865

Diary and Correspondence of Salmon P. Chase. Annual Report of the American Historical Association for the Year 1902. Vol. 2, 1903

Salmon P. Chase

War experiences and the story of the Vicksburg campaign from "Milliken's Bend" to July 4, 1863; being an accurate and graphic account

Two soldiers; the campaign diaries of Thomas J. Key, C. S. A., December 7, 1863-May 17, 1865, and Robert J. Campbell, U. S. A.,

Floride Clemson

Edward Clifford Anderson Papers, Diary, Diary, 2 November 1863-13 November 1864

Edward Clifford Anderson Papers, 1845-1865

Fuller records his experiences in and around Huntsville, Alabama. The diary includes detailed descriptions of camp life, drills, 1860/1863: Diary of G. L. MacMurphy of Galveston, Texas, describing events of the Civil War from his perspective as a soldier. Also Frank Malcolm, Iowa Infantry Regiment, 7th (1861-1865). Company D.

Frank Malcom letters, 1864

Francis Davis Millet

Ethan Allen Hitchcock

Emma Florence LeConte was the daughter of scientist Joseph LeConte. The collection is the diary of Emma LeConte while she was living spring of 1864.

Emilie Quiner diary transcript

Hospital pencillings- being a diary while in Jefferson General Hospital, Jeffersonville, Ind., and others at Nashville, Tennessee, as matron

had died
John Alexander Strickland formed Company H of the 49th North Carolina when he was discharged for health reasons. This reminiscence tells a brief story of W. I. Stowe and the part he played in the Civil War. He tells how Company H of the 23rd North Carolina was formed.
from 1861-65 and was almost continuously in Washington thereafter. He writes from a Republican standpoint of the war measures.

Albert Gallatin Riddle

Recollections of an Old Man, Seventy Years in Dixie, 1910.

Francis Winthrop Palfrey

David Dixon Porter - Memoir of Commodore David Porter, USN, 1875.

Dabney H. Maury

The Soldier's Friend; being a thrilling narrative of Grandma Smith's four years' experience and observations, as matron, in the hospitals of

Susan E. D. Smith

Near Richmond, On Thursday, June 26, 1862, And Resulted In The Defeat And Retreat Of The Northern Army Under Major-

A Chautauqua boy in '61 and afterward; reminiscences by David B. Parker, Second Lieutenant, Seventy-second New York,

David B. Parker

The following article is written by General Thomas Jordan, chief of staff to General Beauregard from June, 1861, to May, 1864,

J. Watt Gibson

Many Of Its People.

Reminiscences of military service in the Forty-third regiment, Massachusetts infantry, during the great Civil war, 1862-63 (1883).

Edward H. Rogers

John M. Copley

Memoir of Emily Elizabeth Parsons. Published for the benefit of the Cambridge hospital (1880). During the late war, my daughter served

Smith Stimmel

York vols.

Memoirs, with special reference to secession and the Civil War (1906).

John H. Reagan

Story of a Charge: The Famous Forlorn Assault at Jackson, Mississippi. Colonel E.T. Lee

s description of the attack. Gallant soldiers

William H. Jackson

The Story Of The Maine Fifteenth - Being A Brief Narrative Of The Important Events, 1890. A Complete Roster Of The Regiment,

In Some Reminiscences (1909), his only autobiographical work, Royall offers sketches that trace his most significant life events and

York Volunteer Infantry, for gallantry in action, May 1862; replaced his seriously wounded commander at the battle of Antietam and

Isaac T. Nichols

Personal Recollections of a Confederate Cavalryman, The National Tribune, Feb 14, 1901.

Augustus C. Buell

d death. After three days, he was discovered by the Confederates and taken to Libby Prison.

Andrew Roy

Narrative of privations and sufferings of United States officers & soldiers while prisoners of war ... being the report of a commission of

Maud E. Morrow

Recollections of the Civil War from a Child's Point of View.(1901).

John C. Smith

Frederick Hill

Susan P. Lee

Maryland And The Glorious Old Third In The War For The Union - Reminiscences In The Life Of Her Chaplain, Major Samuel Kramer (1882)

Mabel Mcilvaine, Comp

Reminiscences - H. S. Stevens, 14th Connecticut Infantry.

James William Shepherd

Richard Wilmer

Seventh Regiment New York Militia, 1868.

Recollections Of The Early Days Of The National Guard, Comprising The Prominent Events In The History Of The Famous

Richard Snowden Andrews, lieutenant-colonel commanding the First Maryland Artillery (Andrews' battalion) Confederate States army;

Tunstall Smith ed.

The Battles of the Rebellion. These were published in seven series of about 12 small pamphlets each, and continued through 1915.

At the monthly meetings of the Society, papers were read by members, describing battles and campaigns. The Society also developed

Papers of the Rhode Island Soldiers and Sailors Historical Society, Series 6, no. 1-10, 1903

Papers of the Rhode Island Soldiers and Sailors Historical Society, Series 5, no. 1-10, 1885

Papers of the Rhode Island Soldiers and Sailors Historical Society, Series 1, no. 1-10, 1885

Memoirs and History of Captain F.W. Allexander's Baltimore Battery of Light Artillery, 1912.

Henry Lane Stone

George Sumner

Susie King Taylor

Reminiscences of an army nurse during the civil war (1911).
Life and Letters of Robert E. Lee, 1906. Includes his letters, diary entries and more, this volume provides an intimate look into the life of Robert E. Lee during the Civil War.

Letters from Port Royal Written at the Time of the Civil War (1862-1868). A minor war history compiled from a soldier boy's letters to the girl I left behind me, 1861-1864...(1916). The soldier boy, Martin A.

Letters of Robert Walker, a Soldier in the Civil War of 1861-1865 (1917).

A Confederate Surgeon's Letters to His Wife (1911).

Spencer Glasgow Welch - Letters of a Confederate Officer to his family in Europe during the last year of the War of Secession (1913).

Letters of A War Correspondent - Special Correspondent of The New York "Tribune" During The Civil War (1899).

Letters from Camp, Battle-field, and Prison, 1865.

Letters of General William T. Sherman, By Himself, begin with the year 1846 (when the Mexican War began) and end with a chapter about the restoration of Virginia

Letters of Major-General Grimes to His Wife. Written While Serving in the Army of Northern Virginia, 1884.

Extracts of Letters of Major-General Grimes to His Wife. Written While Serving in the Army of Northern Virginia, 1884.

Personal Reminiscences of Abraham Lincoln (1924).

Hospital Transports, A Memoir Of The Embarkation Of The Sick And Wounded From The Peninsula Of Virginia In The Summer Of

Memoirs of Lieut.-General Scott, LL. D (1864).

A Southern Woman's War Time Reminiscences (1905).
Civil War Diaries

Newspaper Clippings - Battle of McDowell.

Newspaper Clippings - Appomattox, Va.

Newspaper Clippings - Stonewall Jackson Staff Officers.

Newspaper Clippings - Stonewall Jackson (2 of 2).

Newspaper Clippings - Stonewall Jackson (1 of 2).

Newspaper Clippings - Fredericksburg, Va.

General Correspondence - 1861.

General Correspondence - Robert E. Lee.

Family Correspondence - 1861-1864.

Family Correspondence - 1861.

Family Correspondence - 1861, June 27-1864, Dec. 30.

Family Correspondence - 1885.

Diaries - 1861, June 15-1865, Dec. 23 (extracts).

Diaries - 1861, June 15-1862, May 24 (extracts).

Diaries - 1861, June 15-1862, May 16 (extracts).

Diaries - 1861, Dec. 9-1862, Mar. 31 (extracts).

Excerpts of Hotchkiss's war diaries transcribed in War of the Rebellion A Compilation of the Official Records... (1886).

Diaries - 1864, May-June (miscellaneous notes).

Diaries - 1864, May 1-Dec. 23.

Diaries - 1863, Jan. 1-Nov. 28.

Diaries - 1862, May 20-Dec. 16 (extracts).

Diaries - 1862, Mar. 27-May 19 (extracts/variants).

Other subjects include diplomatic policy, abolition and slavery, and social conditions in the South during its occupation by Union soldiers concerning recruitment, enlistment, camp life, battle engagements, military strategy, and distribution of military supplies.

Donald Benham Civil War Collection - Military orders and records; 1861-1863 Volume 2

Donald Benham Civil War Collection - Correspondence; Swander, Bishop and Co., 1865

Donald Benham Civil War Collection - Correspondence; Miscellaneous; 1836, 1846-1863

Donald Benham Civil War Collection - Speeches, circa 1863, 1866, circa 1890

Richmond and Lexington (1863).

Our Acre and Its Harvest. Historical Sketch of The Soldiers' Aid Society of Northern Ohio (1869).

Mary Clark Brayton in that memorable struggle 1861-'65, and further to preserve and hand down to an interested posterity incidents semi-biographical which otherwise would have

David W. Rowe

Brief Sketch of the Battle of Gettysburg, Introduction to Maine at Gettysburg, 1898.

prisoner of war camp commonly known as Andersonville Prison. The diary documents the capture of the Federal garrison at Plymouth, 103rd Pennsylvania Infantry Regiment, and a letter to his wife while held as a prisoner at Camp Sumter in Georgia, the Confederate war effort; hardships suffered by Confederate soldiers; and military activities of Betty Maury's father, naval officer and detailed comments on the progress of the American Civil War, especially in the local area; contributions by women to the Confederate two-volume diary was scanned from one reel of microfilm. Maury wrote the diary primarily in Fredericksburg, Virginia, and it contains

William Bross

Stephen C. Beck

Joseph Barber

Speeches and Addresses of the late Hon. David S. Coddington, with a biographical sketch (1866).

A Sketch of the Life and Public Services of Brigadier and Brevet Major-General James Alexander (1903).

The town of Hingham, Massachusetts in the late Civil War with sketches of its soldiers and sailors (1876).

James Freeman Clarke

Frank Moore, ed.

John Ellis Edwards

By an English Combatant - Lieutenant of Artillery on the Field Staff

B. S. De Forest

A historical sketch of the Quitman Guards, Company E, Sixteenth Mississippi Regiment, Harris' Brigade : from its organization in desperate fighting, and the death of the author at Fredericksburg.

Diary of a Pennsylvania Reserve

Joseph Barry

Critical Sketches of some of the Federal and Confederate Commanders, 1895.

Henry Howe

soldier (1870).

Together With An

William Brownlow

Edwin Austin Forbes was an American landscape painter and etcher who first gained fame during the American Civil War for his detailed

Edwin Forbes. The Army Sketchbook - An Artist's Story of the War, Vol. 1, 1894

The Annals of Harper's Ferry - With Sketches of Its Founder, and Many Prominent Characters ... (1872).

Joseph Barry

James Barnet

biographical sketches of Colonel Baker and Generals Wistar and Stone (1888).

Charles Bennett

Welburn Andrews

An Historical Sketch of the 162nd Regiment New York Volunteer Infantry (3rd Metropolitan Guard) 19th Army Corps, 1862-1865, 1867.

in the regiment (1869).

Historical sketch of the Forty-Fifth Illinois Regiment with a complete list of the officers and privates and an individual record of each man

John M. Adair

Theodore Poilpot

A Comprehensive sketch of the Merrimac and Monitor naval battle, giving an accurate account of the most important naval engagement

From a young man writing to his future wife, to the general in charge of an army, to the man in his last years, these are the private letters Sherman sent home. This collection was passed on to Marc Antony DeWolfe Howe (of the Atlantic Monthly) by Sherman's daughter.