Crossing after getting within a quarter of a mile of the main land we had to take the water & made for 2 hundred Yes, then joined in line of both in rear of 2nd and 3rd Brigade and remained there for a few minutes. The fighting in front intolerable heavy bow and then a stray ball would whiz through out ranks but did not do any damage in our rest there were wounded men carried to the rear every few minutes in a short time orders came to move forward. The colonel gave orders to fix bayonets and move to the front the line 400 yards knee deep and fighting heavy in front we moved on with in supporting distance of the front line yelling like so many wild cats as we got out of the swamp we came to a halt to get the lines dressed for a charge. The front line then moved... on & our line followed close it being nearly night the flack of the rebel guns was a sign seen the rebels gave away without a general engagement we advanced a quarter of a mile & were got orders to move back to the edge of the swamps & stacked arms the front line also stopped
