FRIDAY, JANUARY 1, 1864.

Having slept cold I rose at an early hour; as is customary at this time I read 25th chaps. as my yearly guide. The day was cold I was busy at work about our tent; during the whole day I did not get a rest.

I went to see Charles Davis who was sick in hospital in town.

SATURDAY 2

The first day is past; the second arrives. Prospect looks well; I go to work and we finished our work. We 16 men and mates were obliged to go home and haul a load of wood. I feel very well; detailed for guard this evening.

SUNDAY 3

Sat up at 4 A.M. and went to bed. got up, eat our breakfast and went on picket guard; day cloudy and cold, did not enjoy the day well. After all had gone to bed save the sentinel. I sat by the fire near 71 wood stove, wrote notes of the day. Then went to bed.

One
MONDAY, JANUARY 4, 1864.

I rose from my bed though it was in open air I slept good and warm; Barney of guard went to work about our tent making a bunk laying a floor; although the day was cold but a little wet yet I enjoyed it all.

TUESDAY 5

The morning dawned I went forth to duty to work: we made the table & dined it with a dish of soup: P.M. wrote at letter in Home, Kim. The evening went I to see Charles Davis.

WEDNESDAY 6

I commenced the day well: most of it was taken up in washing my clothes and writing a letter to my brother Charles. Hearing C. Davis was going home I went down and my new over-coat.
THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1864.

The morning was cold & cloudy. After breakfast I went to see Davis who goes home today. During the day I took a sleep. A pleasant eye passed.

FRIDAY 8 O. P. Davenport

4-30 A.M. I sprang from my bed at 5. I went on 5th guard on 3rd relief. Some snow having fallen through the night it makes the day quiet cold though the sun shines. The day is passed. Night comes clear and crystal deep thought in my heart. No sleep at all.

SATURDAY 9

Having had no sleep I got breakfast before day. I was at post till 8 o’clock. Most of the day clear and cold. Evening came to a bright fire bloomed on the hearth. Mrs. Cowes called to see us & a talk of battle Missionary ridge occupied the time. No other
SUNDAY, JANUARY 10, 1864.

As the night faded into light, I rose from my slumber. After breakfast, I cleaned our tent and prepared for inspection. Our dinner consisted of beef and vegetable soup. I wrote a letter that day cloudy; enjoyed good health. Evening pleasant. Owen.

MONDAY 11

TUESDAY 12

At private soldier of Co. "A." 36th. camped within the forts at Chattanooga, Tenn. The life of life rents high. We're on the road of life above and the day is quiet. Dad's dinner dish of bean soup. Learning something every day. Solved a question in arithmetic.
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1864.

Morning opened at 5-50: Int a hurry and went over Tenn. to work: afternoon went out and rolled logs. Day smoky and then fine: 9" of co-

THURSDAY 14

Did not rise till after 7. After breakfast 10 of us went in the woods cut 23 saw logs & went to dinner: Stayed in quarters PM. To take care of things: dismal is the day & eve comes: were seated round fire: go to bed. But not to sleep.

FRIDAY 15

It was near 7 when I rose: by time breakfast was over our relief arrived & we came to camp. We had a mixture of beans, potatoe, onion soup for dinner moved around a little can not write my thoughts. O. E. Rehm.
SATURDAY, JANUARY 16, 1864.

It was not light when I rose & built a fire & got breakfast. Towards noon went out 3/4 mi. & carried a sack of wood to camp dinner over. I washed pants, socks, drawers, & shirt. Day shining the work moves steadily on. Day ends at 10-20.

SUNDAY 17

Beautiful and bright
The morning, breakfast at 6, spent all morning reading and singing. Soft bread & soup for dinner. P.M. wrote a letter home. deep are my thoughts. delayed for work but countermanded ordered to be ready with 3 days ration to march. Mon. 18 & 18 1/2 A.M. over.

I woke and heard the spattering rain which told of hardships to come. I rose at 4-5, and cooked pan of beans & got breakfast. All ready we started in order 91st 36th & 82nd V marched without stopping long enough to even make a cup of coffee till 4-30 P.M. we halted & camped 1/2 mile near where we crossed South fork a hard day's march of over 20 miles; we ate our scant meal & lay down to sleep.
TUESDAY, JANUARY 19, 1864.

Got up and all ready we started; moved on rapidly & by 11 were in Melmore's Cove near 'dog gap.' Loaded up lot of refugees & started for old camp which we reached about 4 P.M. all tired & sore; morn ing was cold & a little snow lay on the ground that had fallen night before; day clear; camping where we did last night; all quietly slept.

WEDNESDAY 20

Long before light we rose and were all ready & started at 6-20 a.m. all moved on till the mud claged; and then the tug of war calmed; at noon we made a cup of coffee and ate the morsel that remained; before was 10 m's and we made it by 15 P.M. more tired, hungry, eat a good supper; never suffered as much on a march.

THURSDAY 21

Very late getting up but eat a hearty meal; morning bright and clear; wrote a letter home; considering all I feel pretty well in body, but Coleman is the afternoon.

O! May I live to praise God.

The evening passed in a long talk with Benj. Clay till 11-20 P.M.

Oscar P. Wren.
FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1864.

I thought I would not build a fire so I lay in bed till daylight. The weather is beautiful; I read Hon. Governor Bruen's address to The Legislature, and am highly pleased with it. I mixed two batches of biscuit for dinner and supper made from ground corn. Feel pretty sure I've had the effects of hard marching. Rev. D. Day talked with Johnson, I went morning found me at my duty. The day is warm and spring-like. It's not out of place to state that the 14th A.C. are the only soldiers before Chattanooga while on the journey of life I try to improve. Got my hair cut and then carried some wood. After dinner was a grand dance at close of week, I have done my duty.

SATURDAY 23.

SUNDAY 24.

At dawn of day I commenced first I kindled fire & cooked breakfast we had bread, coffee, fried steak, hill corn: appeared on inspection quarters in orders; feel pretty well. O what a pretty day is this; for dinner, bread, coffee meat & dish of crout. Went to meeting at Half A.M. in Chattanooga's Speaker Chap. Whitehead 13, Vol. 1st February 1864.
MONDAY, JANUARY 25, 1864.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 1

It was very late when I got up. This morning we had no roll call on account of wet morning; first I mended my shoes; 2nd dinner which was composed of beans, soup, bread, and pickled onions, and cabbage; rain ceased to day as bright as could be. C. J. Otten.

TUESDAY 2

I was up and had breakfast ready by reveille at 6. I was moulded for guard, on relief at head quarters.

A most beautiful day: sun has not shown as in '64. All Earth shines and speaks in silent tones, the cold air first swags: a change in the atmosphere, believed till now.

Wren.
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1864.

“The wild night is past, and now beautiful the Earth is now.” Silent and sad. The scene appeared while fancy to the cold North lands of snow beyond the icy Oreades. I was relieved and washed my clothes.

Day passed me in excellent health; all around the light.

THURSDAY 4

Rely as at 6:30: a.m. on police duty, cleaning quarters.

Day very pleasant and clear.

Got my order for consultation money. Off at the close of day.

I tune my harp to sing the songs of your received a letter quietly.

Toward the fire seated we sit and conversed of other days.

FRIDAY 5

Beautiful and bright. The morning. I rose at 6” and all day long at work. Temptations are many but I pray God that he will make me faithful to grace already given. Thus I passed all day may each day leave with steadfast.
