The Last Privateer

By Cornelius E. Kent, Confederate States Cruiser Shenandoah.

The Shenandoah, the last privateer of the Confederate States, is now lying in the harbor of New York, after a cruise of nearly three years. She was built at Alexandria, Virginia, and was armed with four guns, and was commanded by Captain F. M. Lee. She was captured by the U.S. Navy in the harbor of New York, and is now lying in the dock at that city.

Subscribers' Advertising Columns.

"Patronize Each Other"

Soda Fountains.

Advertisements of Products and Services.

Addresses Wanted.

Reunions.

For Sale and Exchange.

Books and Pictures.

Promotions and Offers.

Business Chances.

Miscellaneous.

Hotels and Summer Resorts.

Pianos and Orgs.

Jewelry and Watches.

Belgian Hares.

Poultry, Eggs, Etc.